

Mr. Davis,

Thank you for the support you provide to our troops. As a military member whose been deployed and separated from family on numerous occasions throughout my career, I can assure you that the packages, letters, etc. we receive can do wonders for the morale of someone in a foreign country and away from family and friends during the holidays. It's the lifting of one's spirits that help do the duties one must do. I ask that you keep my husband in mind to hopefully receive one of those thoughtful packages to show him the love and support sent from his hometown. It's a wonderful thing knowing they are never alone and cared about. Thank you for that.
